Directive 2006/42/EC

Annex V

Filtration systems and filters for filtration systems intended to be integrated into machinery cabins

Annex V provides an indicative list of 17 safety components, which are products independently placed on the market and which meet the definition of 'safety component' set out in Article 2 (c) of the Machinery Directive.

The list given in Annex is not exclusive and other components that comply with the definition set out in Article 2 (c) are to be considered as a safety component subject to the Machinery Directive. Such components are:

- Filtration systems, intended to be integrated into machinery cabins, in order to protect operators or other persons against hazardous materials and substances, and

- Filters for these filtration systems
